

I've thought of one or two mistakes that you can make in business that are like basically irreversible so