

what if I told you this was the last Monday morning of your life what if I told you you died this week would