

I think valuations overall not just content are dropping a lot because money is more expensive interest