

you could buy a 200 million dollar company not know how to run it you just hire someone to run it very