

what do you think of creating Google service apps for local service providers and charging them a mon