

the hard thing about gaming is the life cycle of content its like two three weeks of people have already