the goal would be to build it to a point where I could Outsource it and then kind of let that run on his ow