what do you do when the writer is like hey I write for people and not search engines I have like a librar